Greetings From MAYOR ROVERO

The Town of Putnam is pleased to be a partner with the Putnam Merchants Association, the Antiques Marketplace, and Global Design in publishing the Putnam Traveler. As a life-long Putnam resident and seven-term Mayor, I feel a sense of pride when visitors tell me how much they have enjoyed the beauty and uniqueness of Putnam and its surrounding area. The spring months in Putnam are no exception. There is a special beauty here from the gathering signs of new life springing up along the Quinebaug River, to the restfulness of our meadows, to the re-emerging bustle along our downtown streets. Each Spring is like a homecoming; our shops throw their doors open, new visitors discover us, returning visitors rediscover us with a smile, our restaurants fill up. Join them and visit us this spring. We appreciate you and want to your visit special and memorable.

Our downtown is visitor-friendly. Parking, restroom facilities and ATMs are conveniently located. We are particularly pleased this spring to be installing a complete new signage program designed to guide you about town, including three large directory maps and listings to make sure that you know what we have to offer here in Putnam. Restaurants and shops offer a variety of intriguing choices. Our large Antiques District is a particularly engaging place with endless treasures ready to be discovered. If you are planning to stay with us, area bed and breakfasts are first class. We are proud of our riverfront and the Putnam River Trail so popular with walkers, bikers and picnickers. This year, we have added a new Victorian-era bandstand to host community concerts. And this spring, we are adding our new River Mills Heritage Trail linking six historic mill properties in a celebration of our role in this country's industrial revolution.

Putnam has a spirited sense of place. The strength of any successful town is in its people, the quality of life to which they aspire and their commitment to a continuing renewal of their community. We are always improving and reinventing ourselves. Putnam is a strong community growing stronger. Visit us and capture the Putnam spirit.
